the internet society vision

From its inception, the mission of the Internet Society has been to promote the open development, evolution, and use of the Internet for the benefit of all people throughout the world.

We believe the standards, technologies, business practices, and government and community-driven policies connected with the Internet must sustain an open, universally accessible platform for innovation, creativity, and economic opportunity. In this way, the Internet can improve the quality of life for people in all parts of the world.

The Internet Society is represented by more than 85 Chapters around the world, each with diverse needs, interests, and priorities, but all are bound by a common commitment to ISOC’s core values and vision of the Internet being for everyone.

For information about joining or forming an ISOC Chapter, visit http://InternetSociety.org/isoc/Chapters.

internet society chapter review 2008 internet society chapter programme .................................................................1 internet society chapters worldwide ...............................................................4 connectivity that brings real change to communities ......................................6 policy making that promotes accessibility and that keeps the internet open ..................................................................................................................8 education and training for a new generation ..................................................10 promoting internet stability and user security ..............................................11